

Currents Wins CHINFO Merit Award

MAGAZINE HONORED WITH SECOND PLACE AMONG ALL NAVY MAGAZINES

The editors and staff of Currents magazine are happy to announce that the magazine was honored with a second place medal in the 2003 Chief of Information (CHINFO) Merit Awards contest.

CHINFO announced the results of its internal media award competitions for exemplary achievements in internal media print and broadcast products by Navy Commands and individuals. Currents placed second in the "Magazine Format Publication" category.

The CHINFO Merit Awards Program recognizes excellence in Navy internal print and broadcast media products produced by Navy commands and individuals in some 22 print and 17 broadcast categories. Print media categories include: newspapers, feature, news, sports writing, photography, familygrams, web publications and cruisebooks among others. Broadcast media categories include: radio entertainment program, radio spot production, television information program, television report and television newscast and more.

First place winners, with the exception of those in Navy-unique categories, will be forwarded to the interservice Thomas Jefferson Awards, sponsored by the Department of Defense at the Defense Information School, Fort Meade, MD.

For a comprehensive listing of all CHINFO Merit Award winners visit the Naval Media Center's web site at <http://www.mediacen.navy.mil/index.htm>. Certificates, letters and/or plaques will be forthcoming to all of this year's award winners.

We would like to thank all the Currents readers turned Currents authors—it's your stories that make the magazine a winner.
